Metaencryptor has just published a new victim : Hyundai E&C

Securitynews | 07 Nov 2026, 19:39 SGT

The Metaencryptor ransomware group listed Hyundai E&C, part of Hyundai Motor Group, as a new victim on its leak site. The claim, reported via ransomware.live and not independently verified, targets a construction and engineering subsidiary within the automotive group's value chain rather than vehicle systems directly. If confirmed, the incident could expose corporate data and supply chain partners connected to Hyundai's broader operations. The listing signals ongoing ransomware activity against automotive-affiliated enterprises and warrants monitoring for data leak and downstream supplier impact.
